1. Introduction

SRM University Delhi-NCR (SRMUH), with all its devotion, care and concern, is committed towards creating an atmosphere which is intolerant towards discrimination and harassment of any type (mental, physical or both) and also analyse the current arrangements, identify gaps and deficiencies and devise corrective steps to solve the concerns of all women and gender-sensitive groups in its campus.

2. APPLICABILITY

This action plan on Gender Sensitization [For the Academic Years (2023-2024)] is to be followed by all the stakeholders at of SRMUH.

3. OBJECTIVE/ PURPOSE

- To promote awareness among the staff and students about the necessity for an extensive understanding of Gender Sensitization
- To prepare for more gender-sensitive facilities, amenities, programmes, projects and activities and assure their execution within the governance structure.
- To apply informal social control, if needed, strictly advised formal social control to correct concerns connected to Gender Sensitization.

4. GENDER SENSITIZATION ACTION PLAN

Gender sensitization precedes 'Gender Sensitivity'. It is a basic prerequisite to grasp the sensitive demands of a certain gender. It allows us to analyse our attitudes and views and question the 'realities' that we think are familiar to us.

Gender sensitization is not restricted to the topics relating to our students alone, but its extensive scope also incorporates the concerns of academics in all disciplines, support personnel and administration.

With this stated purpose, the plan for more gender-sensitive facilities, amenities, programs, projects and activities has been created.

A. FACILITIES

SRMUH must evaluate the facilities mentioned below annually and perform needed reformation:

I. INFRASTRUCTURAL FACILITIES

Lighting

Deficits in lighting are viewed as dangerous and terrifying by all (students, staff and visitors). Therefore, ensure that the entire campus is well-lit. Everyone should be encouraged to map the spaces in and around their campus in terms of illumination. This is a vital part of infrastructure and upkeep.

Security

Security is a crucial part of safety, but it should not lead to a 'surveillance,' i.e., monitoring or policing or reducing the freedom of movement, especially for women and all gender sensitive groups. The provision of safety for women on campuses must shun the habit or propensity of being too restricted to women by restricting their freedom of mobility.

Security is a primary concern for all – students, staff and visitors. Adequate and professionally trained security, including a healthy proportion of women security professionals, is essential. Security must undertake gender sensitisation training aside from other terms of employment.

Public Transport

If need be, shuttle buses must be provided to enable students to work late in libraries and laboratories and to attend university events in the evenings.

Toilets

Adequate toilets for women with sufficient water in the all-academic and administrative buildings and the hostels should be supplied. This also implies adequate support to employees working with decent wages to maintain them.

Accommodation

For an increasing group of young women desiring to enter higher education, hostel accommodation is necessary. Insufficient accommodation and congestion should be avoided.

Timings

Maintaining unequal schedule and rules for women hostellers is widespread. Making timetables and regulating one's movement is discriminating and such attitude is not gender-conscious and gender sensitive in nature. Concern for protecting all women and other genders should not lead to further discriminatory measures for women in the hostels. The approach to women's safety in hostels often infantilizes these adult women and does not empower them to learn to strategize their safety.

II. HEALTH FACILITIES

Adequate health facilities are also needed in the campus. In the case of women students and staff, this must include gender-aware physicians and nurses, as well as the services of a gynaecologist is a must.

Nutrition

Generally, it is found that the diet of females is devoid of essential calcium and iron, which leads to deficits in B12. Hence, the quantity and food served at the hostel mess, canteens and cafes should be regularly monitored.

Exercise and recreation

Women students should be encouraged to participate in sports. There should be no dearth of extracurricular activity, entertainment, common gathering or study areas in the hostels and the campus. Students and staff should not be confined to their rooms/offices.

Sexual Health

Education regarding sexuality, contraception, STDs etc., should be adequate. Urinary tract infections and menstruation irregularity are typical concerns and need to be handled effectively.

The attitude of medical professionals

If students and staff arrive with minor medical issues, the exceedingly inappropriate question should not be asked; furthermore, guarantee that doctor's visitors or anyone else should not remain in the room. Minimum courtesies should be followed.

The health of contract workers

Generally, one-third of hostel helpers, cleaning workers and security employees are women. They should have their toilet or resting lunch spots, leave, ESI cards, and maternity leave; pregnant ladies should not put to work on damp, slippery floors and unwell women in the kitchen.

Counselling

Counselling Services must be made available inside the campus. Regular faculty doubling up as counsellors, part-time arrangements and so forth, which are extremely widespread, must be abandoned in favour of adequately qualified (if necessary retrained) full-time therapists. It is found that significant degrees of isolation, alienation and uncertainty about gender-related problems are developing among the young adults.

Self-defence Classes

SRMUH shall ensure the conducting regular self-defence classes for women and gender sensitive students and staff. It will not only improve physical abilities but also enhance their confidence to face any incidents of sexual harassment, and also enable them to protest against any such incident.

B. COURSE MODULE

SRMUH in its academic schedule should include the course module – “Gender sensitization” consisting of 02 credits. If it is impossible to combine the said course module, the university will endeavour to acquire the traits of this module as indicated below through all other co-curricular and extracurricular activities:

Module I: Citizenship

This module shall expose the learners to the notion of citizenship and its ramifications. It shall offer a basis for non-discrimination, whether on grounds of gender or any other feature of a person's identity or social background – class, caste, area, religion, sexuality, ability, and so on.

Module II: Power and Inequalities

Power is an important concept – both in personal and professional space. Power relations are in action in a range of contexts and situations, be it where we work, where we live, where we study, or where we have pleasure, be it ‘public’ or ‘private’ locations. It is vital to study the numerous ways in which power is exercised and comprehend how this exercise of power is gendered. This is also the context to analyse the numerous forms of inequalities that exist in our society, including gender relations.

Module III: LGBTQAP+

In this module, the participants shall be sensitised towards the presence of other genders in the society, and our responsibilities, duties, sensitivity towards these other genders.

Module IV: Violence

In this module, the central idea is to establish the link between power and violence, especially types of violence that are sexual and otherwise.

Module V: Understanding and Combating Sexual Harassment

In this module, current regulations and standards on sexual harassment can be taught to make students and staff aware of them.

Module VI: Equality and Freedom

The course might conclude by examining the underlying ideas related to citizenship and rights.

C. WORKSHOPS

(a) Workshops on Gender Sensitization

The course module mentioned above may be used as a framework for a five-day (one section each day) or a day's workshop on gender. Students or teachers, or non-teaching staff may be requested to read one segment every day, and this can be the beginning point of a conversation on the variety of issues outlined.

Staff training in gender sensitization seminars should be required and should be an incentive when evaluating applicants for advancement. Such seminars should be appropriately arranged based on the group being sensitised, using creative techniques and many forms.

Among students, orientation sessions must be provided in their first year. All students should have participated in some programme, workshop or course on gender to be eligible for the award of a degree.

Workshop 1: What is gender?

Workshop 2: The pressure on gender to act/ behave in specific ways. Illustrate with examples from movies, advertising, etc.

Workshop 3: Many bodies, many sexualities. Recognising variety in gender and sexuality.

Workshop 4: How do gender relations interplay with other axes of inequality and prejudice such as caste, class, geography, minority identity, handicap and so on?

Workshop 5: (For a workshop with students) Gender Equality in interpersonal relationships.

Workshop 6: Power and Violence against women: fighting stereotypes and understanding legal procedures.

(b) Workshops on Understanding Sexual Harassment on Campus

What constitutes sexual harassment and how to deal with it is a great difficulty for most people, whether students, professors or administrators. Given below is the list of workshop series dealing with sexual harassment.

Workshop 1: Defining Sexual Harassment in the Workplace.

Workshop 2: Dealing with an episode of sexual harassment

Workshop 3: Guidelines for a Complainant

Workshop 4: Redressal of Sexual Harassment and Disciplinary action

Workshop 5 Interactions with other laws and rules

Workshop 6: Procedures and Guidelines for the operation of a committee (for members of Sexual Harassment Redressal Committees) (for members of Sexual Harassment Redressal Committees)

I Workshops on Legal Literacy on Laws and Rights: Workshops can also be held that look at issues of gender and sexual harassment in the context of legal rights and remedies given by the courts. Basic information on how to file a complaint, what to do when faced with wrongful detention or arrest, what to do when one is battered or stalked, equal opportunity legislation, and freedom of expression and its infringement are addressed in these seminars

Workshop 1: Rights under the Constitution

Workshop 2: Securing Rights: Interactions at a Police Station

Workshops 3 and 4: Resisting Gendered Violence

Workshops 5 and 6: Equal Opportunity legislations

Workshop 7: Freedom of Speech

Workshop 8: Emergency Laws

Workshop 9: Rights of Minorities

Workshop 10: Right to Information, Securing Identity Documentations

(d) Faculty Development Programmes (FDP): FDPs can also be held that looks at issues of gender and sexual harassment at workplaces. Basic information on how to file a complaint, how to approach the ICC and such others can be the modules of the FDPs.

I Staff Development Programmes: At least one (01) Gender sensitization programme should be held for all teaching and non-teaching staff of the university to sensitise them and make them aware of the roles, duties and responsibilities that they have as responsible citizens towards all gender sensitive groups.

D. NATIONAL & INTERNATIONAL DAYS/EVENTS CELEBRATION

To build the correct awareness, sensitivity and sensibility among the pupils and staff towards gender problems, all the Constituents must celebrate the maximum possible days /events provided below. In keeping with the co-curricular and extracurricular events, without disturbing the predetermined academic calendar, this event can be held.

F. GOVERNANCE FRAMEWORKS

There are the following bodies for the effective analysis, investigations, planning, guiding, organizing and decision-making for the reasonable arrangement and reformation with respect to the requirements and concerns connected to the subject of Gender sensitization. Apart from the objectives of their committees, they need to check that the mentioned Gender Sensitivity Plan is being executed.

- i. Gender Sensitivity Unit
- ii. Internal Complaint Committee (ICC)

G. OBLIGATIONS OF UNIVERSITY AUTHORITIES AND FUNCTIONARIES

- i. The university authorities should, through a notification each academic year, reveal the names and contact details of the members of ICC and the fact that ICC is the University organisation responsible for gender sensitisation and investigations into reports of sexual harassment.
- ii. The university administration will ensure that the Policy is included in the Admission Brochure and disseminated at the time of registration.

- iii. To ensure the permanent installation of the Policy, the university authorities and functionaries must prepare for numerous copies to be mounted on boards for exhibition in conspicuous places, such as the entrances to the campus, academic and administration buildings, dorms, etc.
- iv. The university authorities and functionaries shall offer legal, medical and counselling aid to those complainants who have to seek recourse to the law.
- v. The university authorities and functionaries should submit all allegations of sexual harassment to the Internal Complaint Committee except the circumstances in which the complainant has explicitly banned such transmission.
- vi. The university authorities shall maintain total privacy with respect to facts relevant to ICC inquiries into claims of sexual harassment. The university authorities must offer all necessary assistance for ensuring the comprehensive, effective and fast implementation of these Rules and Procedures of ICC.
- vii. As is required by the Supreme Court Judgement, the university authorities and functionaries should seek to establish a workplace in which the operation of ICC and or the interests of justice are not exposed to undue “pressure from senior levels”.
