PROGRAM

for

FINAL YEAR STUDENTS

of

SRM UNIVERSITY - NCR

DATE: 08.10.2018 TILL 13.10.2018

VENUE: SRM UNIVERSITY- NCR

CAMPUS

PARTICIPANTS

The participants were the final year students of the SRM-NCR University from Engineering, Arts and Science, Management and Law streams.

OBJECTIVES

It is the dream of every engineering student to get placed in a top organization visiting their campus for recruitment. Keeping this key aspect into consideration, this training program is designed to enhance their employability skills to meet the manpower requirements of the Industry.

The prime objective of the Training

To give knowledge about life skills

To train on numerical, logical and verbal aptitude

To build confidence in students and develop right attitude in them To enhance their communication skills

To help the students in writing an effective resume

To train the students through Mock Interviews to perform well in the professional interviews To train the students on group discussion techniques

THE TRAINING PLAN

The total training period was divided into three equal time period to train on

- Numerical and Logical Aptitude
- Verbal Aptitude and communication skills
- Soft Skills

METHODOLOGY:

A mix of methods was used for the Training programme. They are as follows:

- Participant observation
- Brainstorming
- Role play
- Individual and group work/assignments
- Group discussions and presentations
- Practical experience sharing
- Energizers

The multitude of training methodologies was utilized in order to make sure all the participants get the whole concepts and they practice what they learn, because only listening to the trainers can be forgotten, but what the trainees do by themselves they will never forget.

POSITIVE ASPECTS OF THE TRAINING:

- The participants were interested and enthusiastic about all the subjects.
- The participants have gained reasonable skills and experiences which will enable them to prepare for their job interviews
- The venue was comfortable and very convenient.
- The relationships among the participants were in harmony.
- The Faculties are seen encouraging the students to attend the classes and perform.

Concerns about the training program

The students from Law stream found the aptitude training as irrelevant and were reluctant to attend. Even though final year law students found this irrelevant, four students from fourth year batch attended the classes and their feedback was encouraging.

Outcomes of the Training program (elicited from the feedback forms)

1. Learning, Knowledge and skills acquisition:

Explanations on what the students learnt from the training program

- The activities and the way of teaching
- Each and everyone was given a fair chance to grow in an impactful manner
- Wonderful and very positive vibes all around. It was a source of encouragement for all the students to enhance our skills
- Awesome faculties, real time professional advices and positive vibes.
- user friendly, everyone was participating

5. ASSESSMENT OF FACILITATORS

- the trainers are knowledgeable and know about their domain very well
- very explanative and talented
- quants trainers are very talented in teaching the short cuts for problem solving
- The trainers are easily approachable for doubts and concerns. theya re very keen in making students learn effectively.
- efficient, patient, humble and talented
- They have the most creative teaching methods
- They had a way of making us understand everything in our own way
- I liked the way in which I was corrected for my mistake and it really helped me to enhance my skills
- All are very good, no words to thank them
- The way the trainers interacted with us coming down to our level and letting us be who we are
- They are calm even when we made mistakes..really awesome

COMPARING PRE AND POST TEST RESULTS

Looking at the summary of the results from both the tests, we can clearly see that the scores participants obtained in post test are quite different than those they had obtained in the pre-test.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Based on the interactions with the students during the training period in training activities, we recommend the following for further training so that the students are equipped with all necessary skills to face the placement companies.

For engineering stream:

1. Intensive training on Aptitude questions of mass recruitment core companies at least for 3 days.
2. Training on Business English and Assertive communication

For management stream:

1. Training on basic concepts of mathematics.
2. Training on Business English and Assertive communication

For Law stream:

1. The law students may be exempted from aptitude training
2. Training based on their interview patterns
3. Basic English grammar and Assertive communication

- ❖ Student's evaluation report based on the Pre and Post assessment scores of the quantitative and verbal aptitude, Group Discussion and Personal Interview will be posted in Drive and the links will be shared.
- ❖ The excel sheets will be mailed to the authorities.

POST-TRAINING EVALUATION REPORT

PLACEMENT TRAINING PROGRAM

for

PRE FINAL YEAR STUDENTS

of

SRM UNIVERSITY - NCR

DATE: 25.02.2019 TILL 02.03.2019

VENUE: SRM UNIVERSITY- NCR CAMPUS

PARTICIPANTS

The participants were the Pre final year students of the SRM-NCR University from Engineering, Arts and Science, Management and Law streams.

OBJECTIVES

It is the dream of every engineering student to get placed in a top organization visiting their campus for recruitment. Keeping this key aspect into consideration, this training program is designed to enhance their employability skills to meet the manpower requirements of the Industry.

The prime objective of the Training

- To give knowledge about life skills
- To train on numerical, logical and verbal aptitude
- To build confidence in students and develop right attitude in them
- To enhance their communication skills
- To help the students in writing an effective resume
- To train the students through Mock Interviews to perform well in the professional interviews

To train the students on group discussion techniques

THE TRAINING PLAN

The total training period was divided into three equal time period to train on

- Numerical and Logical Aptitude including guesstimate
- Verbal Aptitude and communication skills
- Soft Skills

METHODOLOGY:

A mix of methods was used for the Training programme. They are as follows:

- Participant observation
- Brainstorming
- Role play
- Individual and group work/assignments
- Group discussions and presentations
- Practical experience sharing
- Energizers

The multitude of training methodologies was utilized in order to make sure all the participants get the whole concepts and they practice what they learn, because only listening to the trainers can be forgotten, but what the trainees do by themselves they will never forget.

POSITIVE ASPECTS OF THE TRAINING:

- The participants were interested and enthusiastic about all the subjects.
- The participants have gained reasonable skills and experiences which will enable them to prepare for their job interviews
- The venue was comfortable and very convenient.
- The relationships among the participants were in harmony.
- The Faculties are seen encouraging the students to attend the classes and perform.
- More than expected management students were good in working the numerical aptitude and have shown good improvement comparing with the pre and post assessment tests.

Concerns about the training program

The students from Law stream were not serious about taking the training. The attendance was very low.

OUTCOMES OF THE TRAINING PROGRAM (elicited from the feedback forms) Learning, Knowledge and skills acquisition: Explanations on what the students learnt from the training program

- Learnt how to face the placement interview
- Communication skills and confidence
- To solve aptitude questions in less time even without using pen and paper
- To be positive while talking to others
- My confidence in QA improved a lot
- Very helpful as it encouraged me to open up and speak with everyone in class. Enhanced my soft and interpersonal skills.
- This training is very related to come over the interviews which we have to face at the hour of placement and this training reduces the nervousness regarding the myths of interviews.
- Becoming more confident individual in interviews and public speaking
- Got to know about today's scenario in corporate world.
- The result will be surely positive because learning and gaining knowledge developed us to better version of ourselves
- Helped to increase my vocabulary, confidence and self awareness
- The main thing I learnt is how to represent in a GD, the right way to answer the interview questions, last but not least quickness in solving the aptitude problems
- Now I will speak confidently in any debate or group discussion. Now I will greet persons in a better way and now I will become more confident in public speaking
- I was not aware of these kind of questions earlier, but now I can say that, yes I can solve these aptitude questions
- I will be a different person at the time of interview and I know what work I have to do before placements

2. TRANSFORMATION:

Explanations on how do you hope to change as a result of this training program

- I will develop into an optimistic person having a lot of confidence.
- I will be changing towards a better person
- This training helped me a lot in understanding my personality and how to improve.
- I have overcome my stage fear
- Improved my communication skills
- A boost is given to me to become much more confident and interactive
- Motivated me to start working on my quantitative skills
- I will definitely change as a result of this training, as I am feeling motivated and I will adopt these learnings in life
- Change is equivalent to growth. So yes, I have learnt and had my soft skills improved.
- I see a +ve change in me, that is quite beneficial.
- I will be more focused and determined towards my goal.
- I will be patient, sort out my things and time, read more and never miss out any opportunity and improve my communication skills.
- Prior to this training I was not aware of how to ask questions and communicating with others. Hope to become a good listener and become a lawyer who has good EQ.

- Now I see the life from a new perspective
- By participating in different activities, I overcame my weakness like I always face inferiority complex but I now I am confident in public speaking
- I will definitely work on myself because now I know what all I must need to work on
- I did not hope to change but I am already getting changed due to the training and the trainers in a positive way.
- I am sure that after the training, I am going to evolve in terms of expressing myself to the world
- The change is already being experienced by me. I have now opened up more as compared to earlier and feel more confident on stage now.
- After the training, I feel that there is an overall change in my personality whether it is about communication skills, adaptability to environment and problem solving ability
- I was never used to use English language in routine and now I will use it on daily use.
- I found out where I have been lacking and now I am working on them to improve

3. ABOUT THE TRAINING PROGRAM

Participants provided their impression about the training program (a few samples, as it is)

- They actually focused on the areas where we needed improvement. It was a great and useful step taken by the university and I am thankful for this.- Taruna ECE
- The way all the trainers interacted with us and engaged us into the class in such a way that we learnt cheerfully and didn't even wanted the class to end – Rajat CE
- Conducting activities involving students so that we could connect, awesome. It was the need of the time – Saurabh ECE
- I really like the training program the whole week. Did not want the program to end. It was a great week of learning, communicating and improving yourself. – Chayya ECE
- I liked the interactive way of teaching and I am looking forward to have more such trainings- Pavleen BME
- It was fun but a lot of things to learn from it. – Avinash Singh CE

4. THE MOST LIKED ASPECT OF THE TRAINING PROGRAM:

- Way of sharing knowledge and information through a fun and effective activity
- The idea of mock interview and mock GD very appreciable and very useful
- Faculty and their way of teaching. session wasn't boring at all, it always felt exciting
- The teachers were full of energy
- Individuals were given chance to think and speak. It was very helpful.
- The training involved some very interesting and new set of activities that led to good understanding and result.
- Now made me confident to crack the interviews
- I like the teaching methodology, a play way but good learning. The activities are really superb.
- The training is more fun with learning rather than lecturing
- The trainers are amazing. They teach us in a very interesting and joyful way, they are the best.
- The training program was very interactive and communicative.
- The trainers are more humble and productive teachers I've ever encountered with
- Maths was never fun until you taught us. keep it up
- All the trainers are genuinely good in their job and pays equal attention to each and every student
- The way the things was taught are quite impressive and student friendly

5. ASSESSMENT OF FACILITATORS

- The most interesting thing about the training was the interaction of trainers with the students. the trainers were helping each and every student by listening to their problems and giving them best solution- Sahil Malik CSE
- All the trainers were tremendously great and excellent – Vasu Gupta CSE
- I like every trainer who taught us, they were really good and dedicated- Deepti CSE
- Teaches in a way that it doesn't look like that she is teaching, it seems like playing with books.
- it was very delightful experience to be the part of such experienced and supportive teachers training
- I am lucky to get trained under such trainers
- I like how much supportive the teachers are, so encouraging and joyful nature ...
- quants trainers are very talented in teaching the short cuts for problem solving

COMPARING PRE AND POST TEST RESULTS

Looking at the summary of the results from both the tests, we can clearly see that the scores participants obtained in post test are quite different than those they had obtained in the pre-test.

RECOMMENDATIONS

Based on the interactions with the students during the training period in training activities, we recommend the following for further training so that the students are equipped with all necessary skills to face the placement companies.

For Engineering and Management stream:

1. Intensive training on Aptitude questions of mass recruitment core companies at least for 3 days.
2. Training on Business English and Assertive communication

For Law stream:

It is the dream of every engineering student to get placed in a top organization visiting their campus for recruitment. Keeping this key aspect into consideration, this training program is designed to enhance their employability skills to meet the manpower requirements of the Industry.

The prime objective of the Training

To give knowledge about life skills To train on numerical, logical and verbal aptitude To build confidence in students and develop right attitude in them To enhance their communication skills To help the students in writing an effective resume To train the students through Mock Interviews to perform well in the professional interviews To train the students on group discussion techniques

THE TRAINING PLAN

The total training period was divided into three equal time period to train on • Numerical and Logical Aptitude • Verbal Aptitude and communication skills • Soft Skills

METHODOLOGY:

A mix of methods was used for the Training programme. They are as follows: • Participant observation • Brainstorming • Role play • Individual and group work/assignments • Group discussions and presentations • Practical experience sharing • Energizers The multitude of training methodologies was utilized in order to make sure all the participants get the whole concepts and they practice what they learn, because only listening to the trainers can be forgotten, but what the trainees do by themselves they will never forget.

POSITIVE ASPECTS OF THE TRAINING:

• The participants were interested and enthusiastic about all the subjects. • The participants have gained reasonable skills and experiences which will enable them to prepare for their job interviews • The venue was comfortable and very convenient. • The relationships among the participants were in harmony. • The Faculties are seen encouraging the students to attend the classes and perform.

Concerns about the training program

The students from Law stream found the aptitude training as irrelevant and were reluctant to attend. Even though final year law students found this irrelevant, four students from fourth year batch attended the classes and their feedback was encouraging. Outcomes of the Training program (elicited from the feedback forms)

1. Learning, Knowledge and skills acquisition:

Explanations on what the students learnt from the training program • Improved my language skills • learnt Resume preparation • learnt short cuts for solving quants problems • Now I am equipped with confidence to face the corporate world • To be calm and composed • Hesitation to speak in front of people is removed • Quantitative, soft skills and communication skills • We were able to gain real life knowledge about how to perform and present ourselves in front of the corporate world. • Learnt different things about placement which are not known to us like body language and grooming. • Now I am good at solving aptitude questions. Learnt leadership skills, time management and am improving personality. • Learnt overcoming fear and improved confidence. Great impact on intellectual side. • Fluency in talking • Now I am knowing to create bond with strangers • Logic, shortcuts for solving quants. • We learned a lot about Group discussions; students were coming up with new ideas • We learnt what are the industry expectations from freshers and to improve ourselves accordingly • I learnt what the company wants from us and how to get you employed in reputed firm but also to stand in society

2. TRANSFORMATION:

Explanations on how do you hope to change as a result of this training program

• It has given me the confidence to gear up for the placements • It has improved my thinking and my standard of Interview facing • I hope to change in public speaking and communicating without nervousness • Improved my aptitude problem solving skills • learnt how to deal with the interview questions • I changed to be always confident • I hope to sit in interview with full confidence. • Overcame my fear of talking in groups. • It changed my perception about aptitude, now I find it easier to solve. • Stage fear has decreased, Increase in the confidence, enhancement in my skills and positive attitude • Understood my capabilities, increased participation in groups • I will apply all my learning in my real life and definitely it will change my problems • I will focus more time on my soft skills and communication. I will do more quants questions too every day. • I hope that I will now work as a better team person, a better individual and I hope that I will perform better in placement drive • Earlier I thought to be a leader, I am supposed to dominate, but now I learnt to give others equal opportunities and chance is leadership. • Facing people will not be a major issue for me now • the tricks I learnt and how to see each situation differently has made me a more confident person • It helped in boosting my confidence, I am gonna change from under confident to a confident person as a result of this training. • I came face to face with my shortcomings and would now slowly tackle them and also incorporate new skills and positive trait I picked up from this training in my personality. • After the training I would make myself to be more expressive and take the initiative wherever possible. • would be more faster in solving the quants problems • My confidence has increased which I definitely think will lead me to success • There is a boost up in my morals and confidence. • I believe I will have a positive approach in dealing with situations. having learned and attended these lectures, I feel I can contribute my skills and knowledge efficiently and confidently wherever I plan to achieve my goals. • Will take lead and become an outstanding student in any interview • It has helped me to change my opinions and will help to behave well in future.

COMPARING PRE AND POST TEST RESULTS Looking at the summary of the results from both the tests, we can clearly see that the scores participants obtained in post test are quite different than those they had obtained in the pre-test.

RECOMMENDATIONS Based on the interactions with the students during the training period in training activities, we recommend the following for further training so that the students are equipped with all necessary skills to face the placement companies.

For engineering stream:

1. Intensive training on Aptitude questions of mass recruitment core companies at least for 3 days.
2. Training on Business English and Assertive communication

For management stream:

1. Training on basic concepts of mathematics. 2. Training on Business English and Assertive communication For Law stream:

The law students

May be exempted from aptitude training 2. Training based on their interview patterns 3. Basic English grammar and Assertive communication Student's evaluation report based on the Pre and Post assessment scores of the quantitative and verbal aptitude, Group Discussion and Personal Interview will be posted in Drive and the links will be shared. The excel sheets will be mailed to the authorities.

Greetings from DCS!

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you and your management for the needful coordination done to make this internship successful programme. Based on inputs received from DCS and SRM team this internship was a successful programme. SRM students spirit of participation and involvement is highly appreciable. Students approach towards the project was very professional and committed.

Please find the detail report of the E-Internship

E internship Start Date: 17th July 2020
E internship End Date: 18th August 2020
No. of Students Participated: 320
No. of Groups: 42

SKILL SET ACQUIRED BY THE STUDENTS AFTER THE E INTERNSHIP

Product Design automation:

- Students know about the knowledge based engineering.
- Students know about the Product Design Process Practice in the industry.
- Students have learned how to linking third party software for automation of file generation.
- Students are able to update wide range of products pre - existing in CATIA.
- Students are able to apply business concepts and theories to real-world decision-making
- Students have better understanding about business skills in communication, technology, quantitative reasoning, and teamwork.
- Students are able to observe and participate in business operations and decision-making.

Smart Water Management using IoT

- Understand IoT landscape and all emerging areas to develop products
- Understand and build IoT applications
- Understanding of Sensors, Actuators, Cloud Platforms, Real time Database, IoT Protocols Software Development, Nodemcu and Gateways
- Implement concepts of UI, data handling and control instructions
- Use native android applications for device control
- Develop processing-based interaction modules for controllers
- Develop WSN using ESP
- Deploy IMU in multi-dimensional applications
- Emulate real time IoT application sequence
- Develop confidence of presenting their project/Product

To make such internship successful and encourage students to get involved in industry standard problem we have awarded amount of Rs. 11,000 as prize money for the group with the best project in both the verticals.

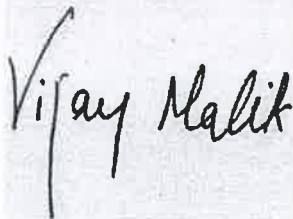

For Product Design automation:

Group Name: Achint Alag (Individual)

For Smart Water Management using IoT

Group Name: Shagun (Group Leader)

We look forward to engage with SRM University and initiate CSED at your campus.

Training Report (Year 2022)

PARTICIPANTS

The participants were the final year students of the SRM-NCR University from Engineering, Arts and Science, Management and Law streams.

OBJECTIVES

It is the dream of every engineering student to get placed in a top organization visiting their campus for recruitment. Keeping this key aspect into consideration, this training program is designed to enhance their employability skills to meet the manpower requirements of the Industry.

The prime objective of the Training

To give knowledge about life skills To train on numerical, logical and verbal aptitude To build confidence in students and develop right attitude in them To enhance their communication skills To help the students in writing an effective resume To train the students through Mock Interviews to perform well in the professional interviews To train the students on group discussion techniques

THE TRAINING PLAN

The total training period was divided into three equal time period to train on • Numerical and Logical Aptitude • Verbal Aptitude and communication skills • Soft Skills

METHODOLOGY:

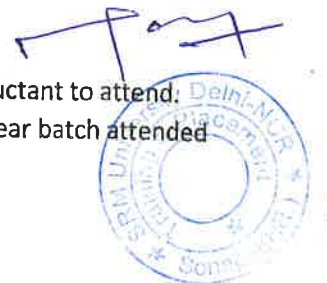

A mix of methods was used for the Training programme. They are as follows: • Participant observation • Brainstorming • Role play • Individual and group work/assignments • Group discussions and presentations • Practical experience sharing • Energizers The multitude of training methodologies was utilized in order to make sure all the participants get the whole concepts and they practice what they learn, because only listening to the trainers can be forgotten, but what the trainees do by themselves they will never forget.

POSITIVE ASPECTS OF THE TRAINING:

• The participants were interested and enthusiastic about all the subjects. • The participants have gained reasonable skills and experiences which will enable them to prepare for their job interviews • The venue was comfortable and very convenient. • The relationships among the participants were in harmony. • The Faculties are seen encouraging the students to attend the classes and perform.

Concerns about the training program

The students from Law stream found the aptitude training as irrelevant and were reluctant to attend. Even though final year law students found this irrelevant, four students from fourth year batch attended the classes and their feedback was encouraging. Outcomes of the Training program (elicited from the feedback forms)

1. Learning, Knowledge and skills acquisition:

Explanations on what the students learnt from the training program • Improved my language skills • learnt Resume preparation • learnt short cuts for solving quants problems • Now I am equipped with confidence to face the corporate world • To be calm and composed • Hesitation to speak in front of people is removed • Quantitative, soft skills and communication skills • We were able to gain real life knowledge about how to perform and present ourselves in front of the corporate world. • Learnt different things about placement which are not known to us like body language and grooming. • Now I am good at solving aptitude questions. Learnt leadership skills, time management and am improving personality. • Learnt overcoming fear and improved confidence. Great impact on intellectual side. • Fluency in talking • Now I am knowing to create bond with strangers • Logic, shortcuts for solving quants. • We learned a lot about Group discussions; students were coming up with new ideas • We learnt what are the industry expectations from freshers and to improve ourselves accordingly • I learnt what the company wants from us and how to get you employed in reputed firm but also to stand in society.

2. TRANSFORMATION:

Explanations on how do you hope to change as a result of this training program • It has given me the confidence to gear up for the placements • It has improved my thinking and my standard of Interview facing • I hope to change in public speaking and communicating without nervousness • Improved my aptitude problem solving skills • learnt how to deal with the interview questions • I changed to be always confident • I hope to sit in interview with full confidence. • Overcame my fear of talking in groups. • It changed my perception about aptitude, now I find it easier to solve. • Stage fear has decreased, Increase in the confidence, enhancement in my skills and positive attitude • Understood my capabilities, increased participation in groups • I will apply all my learning in my real life and definitely it will change my problems • I will focus more time on my soft skills and communication. I will do more quants questions too every day. • I hope that I will now work as a better team person, a better individual and I hope that I will perform better in placement drive • Earlier I thought to be a leader, I am supposed to dominate, but now I learnt to give others equal opportunities and chance is leadership. • Facing people will not be a major issue for me now • the tricks I learnt and how to see each situation differently has made me a more confident person • It helped in boosting my confidence, I am gonna change from under confident to a confident person as a result of this training. • I came face to face with my shortcomings and would now slowly tackle them and also incorporate new skills and positive trait I picked up from this training in my personality. • After the training I would make myself to be more expressive and take the initiative wherever possible. • would be more faster in solving the quants problems • My confidence has increased which I definitely think will lead me to success • There is a boost up in my morals and confidence. • I believe I will have a positive approach in dealing with situations. having learned and attended these lectures, I feel I can contribute my skills and knowledge efficiently and confidently wherever I plan to achieve my goals. • Will take lead and become an outstanding student in any interview • It has helped me to change my opinions and will help to behave well in future.

3. About the training program

Legal Drafting

Legal drafting is not a Rocket Science

Pre-requisites

- Understand Subject Matter From Client's Perspective
- Striking A Fine Balance Between The Relevant Law And Client's Grievance
- Research Comprehensively Prior To Drafting
- Short Sentences
- Simple and Lucid Language
- Clearly Convey Grievance Of Client
- Proof Reading Prior To Filing

3 Cs of Communication

Clear, concise, consistent – The three Cs of effective communication

1. Strive for clarity

Identifying your key messages—the main ideas you want to embed in your audience's mind—is an important part of communicating clearly. Here are some tips to help you get started:

- Before you communicate, write down your central idea. What are the key messages you want your audience to hear and understand?
- Spend time thinking about your audience and the knowledge they may or may not have about the content you'll be sharing. When in doubt, be prepared to provide context and a quick recap to bridge any knowledge gaps.
- As you write out your key points, avoid jargon and other language that could confuse your audience or distract them from your central idea. Technical language or high levels of detail may seem important to you, but they can be a barrier to audience engagement.

Developing key messages before you communicate will help you focus in on what you want to say and deliver your content with clarity.

2. Keep it concise

Aim for short, direct sentences. Saying less forces you to focus, and the more focused you are, the higher your chances of getting your message across. Be sure to define exactly what you want people to understand and what, if anything, you're asking them to do. Saying less has another advantage. Whether you're communicating by email, over the phone, or in person, saying too much can hurt your efforts. Try these tips for concise communication:

- Take out the filler. Write down your message and then review it for conciseness. Is every bit needed to get your point across or have unnecessary words snuck in? In particular, watch for overuse of filler words like "very" and "really."
- Keep it simple. Fancy words will only confuse your audience—or worse, alienate them. Stick to language that is familiar and accessible.
- Formatting is your friend. The longer the update, the more likely it is that important details will be lost. Use formatting in written communication (such as bullet points, headings, or bold emphasis) to highlight vital information. I like to bold important dates, calls to action, and key decisions so it's nearly impossible to miss them.

3. Be consistent

Consistency in communication usually means two things: repetition and frequency.

- Don't be afraid to repeat your key messages—it's hard for people to miss a point when they've seen or heard it multiple times.
- Make sure you communicate on a regular basis. Depending on the project or situation, this may involve creating a set communication schedule to provide updates. Or, it can simply mean being proactive and responsive in terms of how you communicate by email, over the phone, or in meetings.

Simple Rules of Drafting

Following set of rules should be followed: –

- Before making a draft, a design of it should first be conceived.
- One should make sure that none of the facts are omitted or admitted at random.
- Negative statements should generally be avoided.
- Technical language should be followed.
- The legal language employed should be precise and accurate.
- Draft should be readily intelligible
- Due care and attention should be placed on the rules of legal interpretation and the case law pertaining to the related matter.
- The drafted document should be clearly understood by a person who has competent knowledge of the subject matter.
- The draft should be self-explanatory as far as possible.
- The draft should be divided into paragraphs and each paragraph should contain a distinct subject matter.
- Arrangement of facts should be done logically
- Use numbers and letters for sub-clauses and paragraphs.
- Choices of words should be such that they easily convey the meaning of the writer.
- The words used should reflect politeness in order to convey more in a kind, natural and justifiable manner.
- The draft should be read once or twice before passing it for consideration.

The draftsman should keep in mind that his words reflect the quality of the draft. And therefore, he must be very cautious about his choice of words. Following points should be kept in mind: –

- Words should be used in the same sense.
- Active voice should always be preferred over passive voice until the passive voice makes the meaning clearer.
- Paragraphs, in modern usage, should not be started with the word 'that' as was done traditionally.
- The draft should not all things at once. One thing at a time should always be preferred.

What is Legal Drafting?

Legal drafting is a method of creating well-structured documents such as petitions, memorandums, contracts, wills, statutes, etc that are legally binding on the parties to such documents. Such documents in a general sense are known as legal drafts. It requires knowledge of facts and law so as to put facts in a systemized sequence to give a correct presentation for better understanding.

It is often said that the fate of litigation depends largely on the fact as to how the case is presented before the court. It is paramount importance that a legal document is well drafted covering all important aspects of the case legal drafting should be free from all color, from all emotions from all rhetoric! It should be impersonal to be dealing with necessary facts or points of law whatever is applicable.

Importance of Drafting

- Legal drafting is a form of communication.
- To avoid seeking of further clarification of what has been written
- The draftsman may not be available for clarification in future matters
- Parties are bound by what has been written and signed to avoid cost of time and finance to effect correction on the document

General rule of drafting

Be aware who will read your document

- Judge
- Opposite lawyer
- Client
- Government authorities
- Management of company
- Media
- Layman

Plaint

A plaint is a legal document which is filed for the purposes of initiation of the suit. Every suit is instituted after the presentation of the plaint in the manner prescribed. It is the first step towards initiating the suit. A plaint includes all the issues raised by the plaintiff along with the cause of action arising out of the suit.

The particulars of a plaint is provided under Order VII Rule 1-

- The name of the court where the suit is to be initiated.
- The name, description and place of residence of the plaintiff
- The name, description and place of residence of the defendant
- A statement to the effect of either the plaintiff or defendant being a minor or a person of unsound mind
- Facts constituting the cause of action
- Facts showing that the court has the jurisdiction
- The relief claimed by the plaintiff
- A statement of the value of the subject matter of the suit

The particulars of any plaint include the Heading and title, the main body of the plaint and the relief being claimed by the plaintiff. The heading always includes the name of the court and also the name of both the parties i.e. the Plaintiff and the Defendants along with their place of residence. The title of the suit includes the proper reasoning specified by the plaintiff along with the jurisdiction for the suit. The body of the plaint includes all the concerns of the plaintiff in an elaborate manner.

The body of the plaint consists of two parts i.e. the formal part and the substantial portion. The formal part includes statements related to the cause of action, facts specifying that the particular court has the pecuniary or territorial jurisdiction along with the value of the subject matter of the suit. In the substantial portion it should be shown that the defendant is interested in the subject matter for the purposes of calling him /her before the court. Lastly, whatever relief is being claimed by the plaintiff has to be specifically stated in clear words. The relief might include anything from damages to specific performance and even injunctions.

Legal Interview Handling

Basic knowledge acquiring and refreshing exercise before interviews:

Brush up on the following subjects by reading basic text books. Understand and make mental note of concepts rather than memorizing sections and case law.

1. Law of torts - especially on matters like product liability and negligence. Also focus on the general principles like causation, remoteness of damage, etc.
 2. Law of contracts – the basic principles as well as specific types of contracts like agency, guarantee, pledge, hypothecation, hire-purchase, partnerships etc. Also, knowledge of stamping and registration is important and often tested.
 3. Companies Act – Focus on concepts like personality of a company, shareholders, how the companies are governed and managed, meeting and voting, Memorandum of Association and Articles of Association, duties and liabilities of directors and promoters, difference between public and private companies, IPO, different kinds of share capital and debt of a company, dividend, accounting, audit, mergers and amalgamation, oppression and mismanagement and winding up. Additionally, you should understand concepts like capital markets, venture capital, private equity, basics about governance of stock exchanges, role of various regulators and have general knowledge and issue based understanding of the landmark events and critical news items in these areas.
 4. Insurance – Basic principles of insurance should be very clear. It is a comparatively small subject – no need to go into great details of case law, regulations or procedure.
 5. IP and technology law: You need not be an expert of patent law, but understanding of the basic concepts of copyright, trademark, passing off or patent is very important. Technology law is becoming a major practice area and more clients are technology companies these days – so recruiters greatly appreciate a somewhat technological bend of mind and a good understanding of the Information Technology Act and the various guidelines issued under it on matters such as data protection, intermediary liabilities etc. If you are applying for an IP law firm, obviously the threshold of knowledge required will drastically increase.
 6. Property law – General principles of transfer of property, registration.
 7. Civil Procedure Code and arbitration – Again, knowledge of sections or case law is not important. Knowledge of how Bhatia has been overruled is necessary, but insufficient for success in an interview. What is important is if you know the forums you can approach when faced with a legal issue. For example, a problem could require you to evaluate alternatives like going to an arbitrator, a special tribunal, a consumer forum or a civil court. If you want to challenge a regulatory order that is harming your client's interest where would you go? What would be your strategy? This is no rocket science; it just requires your thinking. You only need to know the basics to get there - not complicated case law or section numbers.
 8. Tax laws – Lawyers spend a lot of time structuring commercial transactions in tax efficient ways. An interviewer does not expect you to have this knowledge, but he does expect you to be able to suggest what kinds of taxes a particular transaction could attract, even if you are not 100% sure if a tax will be applicable or not – he wants you to be able to name the kinds of taxes, so that he knows that if you had to evaluate a deal structure in office for a senior associate, you won't be clueless and you can do the necessary research to arrive at an answer.
 9. Subjects that you claim expertise on – this is crucial. The interviewer may ask you which subjects you are good at (if you are applying for a law firm or in-house counsel job, please don't say family law or constitutional. Why do you want to join a corporate law firm if your passion is family law. They may also look at your CV and pick out the subjects in which you have scored well. This is the area where familiarity or an understanding about practical aspects of law can help greatly
- Most importantly, don't shut your mind in the interview. When asked a question, don't try to think "Where did I read the answer to this?" and fish out a ready answer from your mind. 'Think' afresh and apply your mind to the situation. A lot of people get engrossed in reading books, commentaries and case law. Preparing for an interview is different. If you had understood the concepts, your mind will give you direction, and alternative paths to resolve a problem.
- An interviewer looks for your train of thought, he can ask questions to find out if you are thinking in the correct direction. He does not expect you to bounce off answers (except when the question is directly testing your 'knowledge' of law) to problems or issues.

Here are four other things you need to prepare yourself for:

- They will look for consistency in your story
- They will ask you to demonstrate your claims
- They will test your temperament and patience
- They want to be sure that you are sociable

Like there is never a shortcut to succeed in life, there is no shortcut to become a good lawyer, although possessing, acquiring or developing some skills might give us an edge in this highly competitive world.

Primarily, skills such as an inquisitive nature, attention to detail, logical reasoning, persuasiveness, sound judgment and writing ability are significant for success as a professional in law. Today, more skills are required to practice law competently and effectively. Some of these are:

- A. Command over language this skill is quintessential for every lawyer. You need to be able to express yourself efficiently and lucidly to do well in this industry.
- B. Oratory skills for lawyers in private practice, being a good speaker is vital. A prospective litigator must develop the art of modulating his/her voice as per the demand of the situation to emerge successful.
- C. The 3As – Attitude, Aptitude and Analytics. These qualities make a lawyer expert in analyzing the legal problems and arriving at calculated conclusions.
- D. Reading habit A lawyer must essentially develop a regular habit of reading. Reading must be primarily related to law though it may, also include culture, history, science, politics, etc.
- E. Perseverance During initial years a fresh law school graduate may face harsh working hours but one must be patient and focus on deserving instead of desiring.
- F. Team work Lawyers who collaborate well possess the ability to identify and bring out the best others have to offer, submerging their own positions and egos where necessary in order to reach the optimal client outcome.
- G. Emotional intelligence Clients need the empathy, perspective and personal connection of their lawyers to feel whole and satisfied where colleagues need engagement, respect and understanding to be their best.
- H. Financial literacy Almost every client and every case involves money in some way, and every lawyer in private practice is running a business of one size or another. Financial literacy becomes essential in such a scenario.
- I. Technological affinity It has become one of the basic qualities of a lawyer these days. If a person cannot efficiently use e-mail, access the Internet, work with instant messaging, Adobe Acrobat and the like, clients and colleagues will pass you by.
- J. Time management To achieve and meet deadlines, whether it is in corporate or litigation practice, time management is very essential. An effective lawyer is one who knows how to manage time.

Law Interview Questions can usually be divided into five general areas.

1. Questions relating to how you view your career.
2. Questions relating to law.
3. Questions relating to your skills and competencies.
4. Questions relating to commercial awareness.
5. Questions designed to test your ability to deal with unexpected or tricky issues.

Questions relating to your career...

- Why law? Why do you want to be a solicitor/barrister?
- Where do you see yourself in five years' time?
- Where else have you applied?
- What are you expecting to gain from a career in law?
- What qualities are needed to be a good solicitor/barrister? Do you have these?
- Explain how your (legal or other) experience applies to our work.

You should be prepared to answer questions on your career in some detail, and with conviction. You need to be able to show that your decisions are logical, and based on good information and experience.

Questions relating to law...

- Why have you applied to this firm/set?
- What differentiates us from our competitors?
- What has been the most important development in an area of law we work in, and why?
- Give an example of a recent decision that you agree/disagree with, and explain your position.

These can often be fairly self-explanatory questions with no hidden traps. They are, however, central to your application.

You should be able to answer law-related questions convincingly, based on up-to-date information.

You need to demonstrate why you chose the firm, chambers or organization interviewing you, and why you are particularly suited to it.

Expect questions on current developments in the commercial and legal world, and anything in the news that concerns the areas of law you are interested in and that relate to the position you are applying for.

Questions relating to your skills & competencies...

- Are you better working alone, or as part of a team?
- Give an example of a time you experienced conflict or disagreement. How did you resolve this?
- Give an example of your ability to negotiate and persuade. How did you go about this, and how successful were you?
- What is your greatest strength, and your greatest weakness? How do these help/hinder your work, and what are you doing about them?
- Give an example of a problem you solved. Explain your approach, and what you would do differently if faced with the same problem again.
- What achievement are you most proud of?
- What is the biggest mistake you have ever made?
- How do you deal with failure?
- How do your friends describe you?

Questions relating to commercial awareness...

Commercial interview questions are intended to assess your ability to identify the key commercial considerations that a typical business will need to think about. From the answers you give, the interviewer will assess your suitability as a potential legal adviser to commercial clients.

Your answers therefore need to demonstrate both commercial sense and common sense.

There will most likely not be a right or wrong answer to these questions, but some points should usually be considered in most answers, such as:

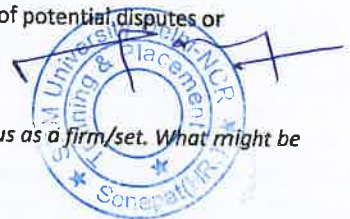

- Supply and demand
- Competition
- Pricing
- Regulatory issues
- Location, premises and leases
- Branding and identity
- Marketing and advertising
- Company structure (independent company, partnership, franchise?)
- Staff.

Further aspects that you can think of, which may be relevant to the question, include consideration of potential disputes or problems that might be faced, and how they may be resolved.

Some recent examples of commercially focused questions asked at interview are given below.

Explain how the 2008 recession came about, and what you would expect its effects to have been on us as a firm/set. What might be done to minimize any negative effects? Might there have been any positive effects?

You are about to set up a coffee shop next door. How would you go about doing this?

Commercial awareness can sometimes appear to be a concept that is shrouded in mystery. However, it is nothing more than having good practical knowledge of how businesses operate, coupled with a good understanding of current issues affecting the business world.

Questions designed to test your ability to deal with unexpected or tricky issues...

These can be very varied, ranging from 'dinner party' style questions, to problems and dilemmas, or may just be questions designed to find out more about you as a person.

- With which three historical figures (living or dead) would you most like to have a dinner party, and why?
- How long is the London Tube network?
- What do you do in your spare time?
- You are in a client meeting with a supervisor who is giving incorrect advice. What do you do?
- If you knew you were about to be stranded on a desert island for a year, which five things would you most want to have with you, and why?

These questions do not fit easily in the other categories, but your answers may be quite revealing about you as a person. They may be totally off the wall, or centered on a dilemma, to test clarity of thought, processes of reasoning and ability to present a coherent analysis of the problem.

All India Bar Examination (AIBE)

In India to officially practice law and become a licensed legal practitioner, you need to clear the bar exam. The objective of The All India Bar Examination (AIBE) is to examine an advocate's capability to practice the profession of law in India. The AIBE will assess skills at a basic level, and is intended to set a minimum benchmark for admission to the practice of law; it addresses a candidate's analytical abilities and understanding basic knowledge of law. After passing the examination candidate will be awarded "Certificate of Practice" by the Bar Council of India. AIBE will be conducted in 40 cities all across India. Candidates will have 11 languages to choose for attempting the examination. Examination pattern will be multiple choice questions and it will be open book exam. The notification bringing the All India Bar Examination into force was passed by the Legal Education Committee and the members of the Bar Council of India at duly constituted meetings on April 10, 2010 and April 30, 2010.

Eligibility:

To take the bar exams this summer you have to fulfill dual criteria.

Firstly, all the candidates must have successfully completed their Three-Year LLB or Five-Year (Integrated) LLB programs from a Bar Council Recognized Institution only.

Secondly, eligible candidates need to enroll at their respective state bar associations and obtain a provisional certificate of enrollment by paying the requisite fees. The process takes approximately 30 days to 90 days (depending on which state bar association you want to enroll with).

Syllabus and Minimum Passing Score:

The syllabus includes all the BCI mandated courses and there is specific weightage assigned to each subject. The minimum score required to pass the Bar Exam is 40 and there is no ranking provided on the basis of merit. This means all students scoring 40+ will clear the bar exam and stand on the same pedestal. There will be no discrimination between a student scoring 41 and one scoring 99.
