Overview

SRM University, Delhi-NCR, Sonapat launched its week-long celebration of the Anti-Ragging Week 2026 (12–18 August) with a formal Inaugural Ceremony held on 12 August at the Sri Sarveswarar Auditorium. The ceremony marked the official start of the university's annual anti-ragging campaign and set the tone for the week's activities by bringing together students, faculty and members of the Anti-Ragging Committee under the common theme of building a safe, respectful and ragging-free campus.

The centerpieces of the ceremony was the administration of the Anti-Ragging Oath, in which students and staff collectively pledged to oppose ragging in all its forms and to actively support a culture of mentorship, dignity and mutual respect among students, particularly toward newly admitted freshers. Which was followed by the words of wisdom from the Hon'ble Vice Chancellor, Prof. (Dr.) VR Raghuvver. Prof. (Dr.) Vijay Kumar Singh, Chairperson, Anti-Ragging Committee reiterated the major points of the anti-ragging regulations.

Proceedings

- Formal inauguration of Anti-Ragging Week 2026 by the Anti-Ragging Committee. Chief Guest – Hon'ble Vice Chancellor.
- Collective administration of the Anti-Ragging Oath to the students and staff present, affirming zero tolerance towards ragging.
- Briefing on the week's schedule of events and their objectives, positioning the ceremony as the launch point for the activities that followed through the week.
- Reiteration of the university's reporting mechanism for complaints, with grievances directed to norags@srmuniversity.ac.in.

Some creatives of the event put on notice board for awareness and participation of the students

By opening the week with a formal oath-taking ceremony rather than proceeding directly to competitions, the university underscored that Anti-Ragging Week is fundamentally a values-based initiative and not merely a series of creative contests. The ceremony gave every participant, students and faculty alike, a shared, public commitment to campus safety before the more informal, competition-based events began, reinforcing the message of "Respect. Support. Grow Together."

The Anti-Ragging Day inaugural ceremony and oath-taking on 12 August 2026 successfully set the tone for a week of sustained engagement on campus safety and student dignity at SRM University, Delhi-NCR, Sonapat. Coupled with the subsequent poster, essay, debate and film competitions, and concluding with the Prize Distribution Ceremony on 25 August 2026, the celebration reaffirmed the university's continuing commitment to a ragging-free, respectful campus environment for all students.

The Anti-Ragging Week celebrated at SRM University, Delhi-NCR, Sonapat, Haryana, evolved into a fortnight-long awareness initiative, involving the entire university community, including first-year students.

The objective was to:

- Create awareness about the meaning, forms, consequences and legal implications of ragging under the UGC Regulations and applicable laws.
- Foster a safe, inclusive and welcoming campus environment founded on mutual respect, dignity and empathy.
- Sensitise senior students to their responsibility towards juniors and emphasise that even seemingly minor acts of intimidation, humiliation or harassment must be avoided.

- Encourage first-year students to understand their rights, identify and report incidents of ragging, and familiarise themselves with the University's grievance redressal and support mechanisms.
- Promote positive interaction, mutual understanding and healthy relationships between senior and junior students.
- Ensure active participation of students, faculty members, wardens, administrative staff and anti-ragging committees and squads in preventing ragging.
- Reinforce the principle that prevention of ragging is a shared responsibility and that every member of the university community has a role in ensuring a ragging-free campus.

Conclusion

The observance of Anti-Ragging Day on 12 August, followed by Anti-Ragging Week from 12 to 18 August, at SRM University, Delhi-NCR, Sonepat, Haryana, evolved into a fortnight-long awareness and sensitisation initiative, in the spirit of the advisory issued by the University Grants Commission (UGC) and the Centre for Youth (C4Y), the UGC's National Anti-Ragging Monitoring Agency. The initiative extended beyond the prescribed week to facilitate wider participation and sustained engagement of the university community, including first-year students, senior students, faculty members and non-teaching staff.

Through awareness campaigns, interactive activities and institutional outreach, the initiative sought to sensitise students to the legal, disciplinary and social consequences of ragging, promote responsible conduct and strengthen awareness of available reporting and grievance redressal mechanisms. It also reinforced the importance of mutual respect, empathy, inclusion and constructive interaction between senior and junior students. The broader objective was to move beyond a formal observance towards meaningful behavioral change and a shared commitment to student safety and well-being.

The fortnight-long initiative reaffirmed the University's commitment to the vision of a ragging-free, safe, inclusive and student-friendly campus. It emphasized that preventing ragging is not merely the responsibility of institutional authorities but a collective obligation requiring vigilance, awareness and active participation from every stakeholder. The University remains committed to sustaining these efforts throughout the academic year and nurturing a campus culture in which every student feels welcomed, respected, protected and empowered to pursue their academic and personal growth without fear or intimidation.
